

Greensboro Housing Authority Participates in Minority Business Fair

Greensboro Housing Authority (GHA) hosted a table and display at the 5th Annual Gate City Minority Business Opportunity Fair, which was held at the Khalif Event Center in Greensboro. Jaymar Joseph, Vice President of Real Estate Development; Tony Humphrey, Capital Improvements Manager; and John Staton, MOD Coordinator, staffed the table and handed out information to perspective contractors and vendors about the opportunities available through GHA. Tina Akers Brown, CEO, also attended the event.

“It was a great event and it was a pleasure to talk about future business opportunities with prospective minority and women-owned business enterprises,” said Joseph. “It is my hope that our work and networking will be mutually beneficial through an increased pool of qualified vendors to provide valuable products and services.”

The purpose of the business networking event was to provide minority-owned firms with exposure to available contracting opportunities with the local public institutions, including GHA, the City of Greensboro, Guilford County, Guilford County Schools, Guilford Technical Community College, NC A&T State University and UNC Greensboro, as well as private firms.

GHA is committed to equal contracting and procurement opportunities for interested business owners and suppliers. All feasible efforts are made to ensure the engagement and utilization of small, minority and women-owned businesses, as well as local and resident owned business located in or owned in substantial part by persons residing in the area of the GHA communities.
